

In-house training 2024

We send the experts to you

A national membership association, Governance Institute of Australia advocates for a community of 43,000 governance and risk management professionals, equipping our members with the tools to drive better governance and risk management practices within their organisation. Our members know that governance is at the core of every organisation — and in these tumultuous times, that good governance is more important than ever before.

We are the leaders in governance and risk management training. Be confident that your staff, executives and board will be trained by the best.

Strengthen your organisation with in-house training

- Create a shared understanding of governance and risk principles within your team to enhance capabilities, minimise risks, align decision-making and improve your organisation's culture and performance.
- Demonstrate your organisation's commitment to good governance.
- Walk away with practical tools and insights on best practice that you and your team can implement in your business
- Align with our trusted organisation to meet the governance, risk management and compliance professional development needs of your organisation.
- Learn from the experts — our training programs are taught by leading industry practitioners and academics.

Why choose Governance Institute for your in-house training?

We focus our training to the needs of your team, executive or board, to create a shared understanding of governance and risk management best practice.

We have a suite of courses for you to choose from and can work with you on identifying an individual training course or program suited to your specific requirements. We match the facilitator to your organisation and on request can tailor our courses so they are relevant to your team and aligned to your needs.

'Our organisation recently completed the Governance of Institute Duties of Director's course, and it was extremely informative. The content was not only comprehensive but also incredibly relevant. The facilitator was excellent, offering relevant insights. I now feel equipped and confident in my directorial role. Highly recommend this course to anyone in a leadership position.'
